Nantasket Beach...

Swim, fish, walk, jog, collect seashells, sea glass, or whatever else you like to do on the beach. Come find out for yourself why Boston Massachusetts is one of the world's favorite cities. Each of the city's neighborhoods has a remarkably different style and tone. From the Back Bay's cosmopolitan streets and ornate Victorian town houses to the aromas spilling into the narrow and jumbled 17-century streets of Boston's North End to the spirited and funky neighborhood squares of Cambridge - all within easy distance from one another.

Catch a Boat, Train or Bus...

Catch a boat to Boston or Logan Airport from Hull, Hingham, or Quincy. There are also Commuter Trains that run from Nantasket Junction in Hingham (just a three-minute drive) to South Station in Boston.

Paragon Carousel...

The Carousel has been operating along the shores of beautiful Nantasket Beach Reservation for more than 80 years. Built in 1928 by the Philadelphia Toboggan Company, it boasts four rows of 66 intricately carved horses and two rare Roman chariots. It is decorated with 35 original paintings, 36 cherubs and 18 goddesses who look down while a Wurlitzer Band Organ fills the air with music. The Paragon Carousel is the last remaining attraction from the beloved Paragon Park amusement park on Nantasket Beach that closed in 1985. The antique amusement is a lasting reminder of the “Golden Age” of Hull, MA, when the town was teeming with thousands of visitors each day in the summer for decades. The Carousel now attracts upwards of 100,000 visitors each summer

Fort Revere Park...

During the American Revolution, Fort Independence was constructed as a star shaped earthen work fort to protect Boston Harbor from a British invasion. It was garrisoned by both American and later French troops. In the nineteenth century, Boston merchants used Telegraph Hill as a signal station to announce the arrival of ships into Boston Harbor. At the turn of the century, Telegraph Hill was once more fortified and renamed Fort Revere, this time by the United States Army as part of the Coastal Artillery Defense System. Fort Revere remained garrisoned during both World Wars. Many thousands of service personnel passed through the gates of this institution over a fifty-year period. Following the end of World War II, Fort Revere was decommissioned as it was no longer needed for defense purposes.

Hull Lifesaving Museum...

Located in the historic Point Allerton U.S. Lifesaving Station, the Hull Lifesaving Museum tells the story of Captain Joshua James and his intrepid crew of lifesavers, who saved more than 500 lives from shipwreck in Boston Harbor. Hull Lifesaving Museum is so much more than a museum. It's an essential part of the community, providing not only crucial lessons from our heritage, but life changing, and life-saving, experiences.

World's End...

Rolling hills and rocky shorelines offer sweeping views of the Boston skyline, while tree-lined carriage paths designed by famed landscape architect Frederick Law Olmsted make delightful walking trails. Pet friendly...

At Nantasket Beach Hotel, we believe pets are members of your family, and therefore we have several guest rooms set aside for small dogs.

A $45 per night pet fee is required as these rooms are refurbished quite frequently.

Pet Travel Tips...

Keep your pet's food, water, and treats consistent, and feed them at the same times you would feed them at home. Don't forget to take an ample amount of your pet's medications with you, plus a copy of their prescriptions in case you have to get more while you're on the road. You'll also want to take plenty of water along, either in jugs from the tap at home or bottled water. Animals can be more sensitive than humans to what's in the water, and you don't want issues with their tummies upsetting your trip. Buying bottled water for your pet might sound like an indulgence, but it's a whole lot better than traveling with a dog that has intestinal issues.

Please review our pet policies below...

- It is required that you state you are bringing a dog when booking your stay. This ensures that we will set aside a pet-friendly room for you and your small dog.
- Your dog may not be left alone in guest rooms.
- Please keep your dog on a leash in public areas.
- We will provide a sheet to cover the comforter should your dog sleep on the bed with you.
- We ask that your dog be clean, well groomed, and have current shots and flea & tick care.
- An aggressive dog is not welcome, nor are young pups. A dog must be good around other people and like other dogs.
- Owner will be responsible for any damages, injury or lost revenue that may be caused by their dog.
